Summertime! It's here and thank goodness we are on the Plateau with cool nights following the hot summer days which seem to start earlier every year! Lots of nearby waterfalls, rivers and swimming holes to explore, "big lake" fun, horse back riding and hiking and just taking it easy! Hot tub soaks late at night under the stars or early morning waking up, roasting marshmallows and making smores in the evening at your outdoor fire pit, grilling on the deck and sleeping in the hammock... Life in the country at its best... Take early evening or morning hikes and you might see deer and their fawns or our wild turkey families with all their babies. Stroll down to the pond (or park at our barn and its just a minute hike) and fish or splash at our sandy beach complete with chairs. It is spring fed so chilly but feels good on a hot summer's day! The best time for splashing is after a rain as it clears the pond from its summer brown algae... but we've been known to jump in just about any time. The best time for fishing is early morning or late day... the fish sleep real deep middle of the day.

Fern Forest Trail (one hour hike in our back woods) offers sections of fern valleys with large stands of Poplar Trees at each end and moderate hills to climb. Please stay on the marked trail. You may have to jump a creek or two in wet weather. Middle section shows the destruction by the pine beetle which killed pine trees in the '90s. In summer wear bug spray & take a drinking water. Mountain biking allowed only when trail is dry.

Our Stagecoach Trail actually begins as the driveway you drove in on (an original stagecoach trail in the 1800s/horses were watered at our farmhouse) and continues down past our farmhouse's back pasture. It just goes out a little ways before you cut off to the Fern Trail (we are working on cutting an extension to Stagecoach this year). Entrance to both trails at the end of the farmhouse's back pasture or you can also start Fern Trail at big bend in driveway.

Our Fern Trail takes about an hour to complete and is moderate in difficulty. Fern Trail turns off to the right a short distance down Stagecoach Trail (or you can start at the big bend in our driveway and attack if from the other direction). On the Fern Trail, you'll pass over a large stream. Our bridge at this point recently washed away in a big storm but we have a small rock jumping dam built to get you across... just use caution. If you look downstream you'll see the old bridge where it ended up! We hope to rebuild soon! In late spring and early summer luscious green ferns blanket the forest floor under 100 foot high Tulip Poplar trees— Fern Valley!
